Kiritanpo Nabe (鍋) ￥ 1,800
single plate price (单品) ￥ 1,200

This is made by boiling Hinaichicken and vegetable together with Kiritampo, which are made by pounding cooked rice, wrapping this rice around cedar skewers and then toasting it. Kiritampo nabe is the prime representative of Akita's regional dishes.

Along with "Kiritanpo", this is a local dish that represents Kazuno City. As it is called "keiran", it is a soup filled with dango shaped like boiled eggs, and is used in Buddhist vegetarian dishes and non-celebrity ceremonies, and red and white dango are used at celebratory occasions. The rice cake, which is made with red bean paste, wild walnuts, and pepper wrapped in a shiratama skin, has a sweetness with a spicy pepper accent that complements the soft flavor of the soup stock.
